Join us as we show you how to:

- ◆ Improve productivity in current work teams.
- ◆ Jump start existing teams that are floundering as their projects progress.
- ◆ Create a corporate culture focused on participation, innovation, and creativity.
- ◆ Use a variety of leadership behaviors to respond to the changing needs of a developing team.
- ◆ Understand the dynamics, or the patterns of behavior that occur within a team, that are key to diagnosing the team's stage of development.

Training Based Upon the Ken Blanchard Companies Model:

The Ken Blanchard Companies not only recognize a need for teaching people to work well, it also offers a solution. The Situational Team Leadership (STL) program is designed to help organizations establish successful, collaborative, and high-performing teams. The program provides a framework and processes for organizing teams that are based on effective communication. It helps to jump-start team effectiveness, build trust among team members, and promote collaboration.
